

Mr. Felipe López Montes, born on 8th October 1998, citizen of Spain, was fully-employed from 17th August 2022 until 1st October 2023 primarily working on the development of a management web application for one of our clients.

Aircury was founded in 2017, following a more than a decade working with UK schools. Since then, we've grown to employ 54 people. We mainly work with companies and organisations in the education and non-profit sectors.

Mr. López's duties in his function as Web Developer were:

- Development and supervision of Fullstack projects with ReactJS and PHP-Symfony, following agile SCRUM methodology, along with the practices of Test-Driven Development (TDD) using PHPUnit and Behavior-Driven Development (BDD) with PHPSpec.
- Collaboration with support and testing teams to handle and resolve different project-related issues and tickets.
- Preparation of technical documentation for the projects, and participation in routine code reviews according to best practices.
- Effective communication in English with various customers and teams using Jira.
- Version control with Git and GitHub.
- Usage of various development, testing and production environments, including Docker and Jenkins, along with the incorporation of cloud services like AWS.

Mr. López worked with us for a year, mainly in developing a management web application for one of our clients. During the time he spent with us, he demonstrated to be a hard worker and quick at getting stuff done.

Working with Mr. López is delightful. He always takes feedback on board, and he adapts to different ideas and ways of approaching things. He was increasingly given more and more responsibility which he took on happily.

It is also worth mentioning that he is a really good team-player, good communicator, easy to work with.

Mr. López left our company to take on new and exciting challenges, but I wish he hadn't. I would hire him back in a heartbeat.

If you are trying to make up your mind about Mr. López, and you have made it this far on this recommendation and are still unsure, please get in touch with me to answer any hesitations you still have.
